

I've recently been hanging around some great marketers who make a lot more money than me and get to serve a lot more people. (Notice the jealously)

One of the things that they do is they actually write an email for you that you can send out to your friends, loved ones, and people you generally want fixed so it'll be easier to be around them. :)

Well, I've always found it kinda weird, but sometimes it really helps me to have an email that I can just edit to my liking instead of having to write the whole thing from scratch.

So, if you can imagine 2--7.5 people that you'd like to share this with, here's an email you can edit, delete, plagiarize, cut up, spit out, put smiley faces in, or ignore entirely and just send an email saying:
Dude (or dudette) check this out cuz I said so:

Copy and paste whatever you want from below.
(and any feedback for me about it is welcome) And, I suggest putting your name at the end.

Hi there,

This last summer I went to an event called Family Constellations with a facilitator from California. He is back in town for a one time event this coming Friday, and I highly recommend clearing your schedule to make it.

This event is profound in so many ways, and is the most incredible way I've ever experienced for shifting family entanglements that may hold us back in life. I really like the line on his website: Your painful problems may actually belong to someone else...

There is a really touching 2-min. video about it here: <http://fcasheville.eventbrite.com> <<http://fcasheville.eventbrite.com/>>

I'm for sure going again, and I want you to come!

Also, one of the things that struck me most about the facilitator is his incredible giving heart. He allows anyone to come as his gift to the community.

It's very rare that he comes out here, so I hope you can make it next Friday.

Blessings,

ps--even if you can't make it, I would suggest just seeing the video: <http://fcasheville.eventbrite.com>

---and here's the version that a friend of mine sent back to me and then blasted out to her list, helping to get 2 events with 60 people each:

Greetings beloveds,

Several months ago I went to a Family Constellation (FC) session with a facilitator named Matthew Blom from California. He's back in town, offering a one time event this coming Friday, November 13th; 7-10pm and I highly recommend clearing your schedule to join.

FC is profound in many ways. It's the most powerful (unadulterated) experience I've witnessed for shifting family entanglements/lineage patterns/generational myasms/core life challenges. There's a touching 2-minute video about it here: <http://fcasheville.eventbrite.com>
<<http://fcasheville.eventbrite.com>>

I'll be hosting the event at my house unless it exceeds 15 people and we can find a space for a larger group on short notice.* Either way, I want you to come.

One of the things that struck me most about Matthew is his giving heart. He invites anyone to come at no charge as his gift to the community...such a sweetie. It's rare that he comes out here, so I hope you can make it.

PRE-REGISTRATION is helpful, very quick, and free at <http://fcasheville.eventbrite.com>

Love to you,

Janell

PS -- Even if you can't make it, take a 2-minute peek at the video: <http://fcasheville.eventbrite.com>

*PPS -- Please call me if you know of a space that can host more than 15 people. Must be available, private and safe.
